

QUOGUE BRIDGE – Update as of 3/14/2014

The Village has learned in discussions with the Suffolk County Department of Public Works that it expects to have the Quogue Bridge open on or about March 31st. Between then and Memorial Day, there will probably be two closures of one day each. The contractor will post signs well in advance to notify people.

There will be no work on the bridge between Memorial Day and October or November, but there is still mechanical and electrical work on the bridge that has to be completed in the fall of 2014.

When the work commences in the fall, there may be some closures but they will not be extended. Detailed scheduling of the fall work has not yet been completed by the County and its contractor.
